ACADEMY OPENING.

Fred, Warde in a Fine Production of "The Lion's Month."

The Lion's Month."

The opening of the New Academy of Music last night was a most successful occasion, and was an event in the thatrical world of Richmond. The theatre was most resplendent in its new interior, and a brilliant audience greeted Mr. Frederick Warde and his excellent company in "The Lion's Mouth," and the unanimous verdiet of the audience was that the theatre was as handsome and comfortable as any in the country for its size.

The rich decorations and furnishings and the beautiful scenery and acoustics were enough to cause many expressions of pleasure from the audience. There were many first-nighters present, and they all seemed satisfied.

"The Lion's Mouth" has been seen here before, but it was never given in better shape. Mr. Warde has a splendid company, and his work in this drama is one of the best efforts of his career. His support is strong, Mr. Charles D. Herman as the "Chief Inquisiter" was remarkably effective, and was so very natural in his wickelness that he gained the intense hatred of the audience from the start. Mrs. Minnie Tittell Brune as "Linora" was most dainty and womanlike in her devotion to the man she loved, notwithstanding the chasm that kept them apart for a while.

devotion to the man she loved the standing the chasm that kept them apart for a while.

In fact, the whole company is competent. There was only one weakness noticeable in the performance last night, and that was a slight one. As "Ghetto" Mr. Gregory Raymond's make-up was superb, but his voice smacked of the beardless youth.

At the close of the third act last night Mr. Warde was called before the curtain. He made a few appropriate remarks, and congratulated the Richmond people upon having at last a real, up-to-date theatre.

A telegram was received by Manager Leath last night from his New York managers, Kiaw & Erlanger, as follows:
